Top products line up in five categories

Some of the most innovative new products in security have made it through to the finals of this year's IFSEC Security Industry Innovation Awards. And there are many products to interest Security Installer's readers in this year's pick of the crop.

This year the 30 shortlisted contenders are battling it out for top honours in five categories covering the whole of the security product sector.

Following the judging session these finalists are lining up to take the honours at the awards, in association with the British Security Industry Association.

Five winners from this shortlist – one of them being the overall "best of the best" will be announced at the Awards Dinner on the first night of IFSEC 2007 on May 21.

The event, at the Hilton Birmingham Metropole Hotel at the NEC, will also include presentations to the winners in categories covering Best Security Project or Installation, the Security Industry Personality of the Year and the Security Industry Leadership Award.

The following is the list of companies whose products made it through to the shortlist in the five categories. In the June edition of Security Installer magazine there will be a four-page special giving exclusive coverage of all 30 products.
